

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A refrigerated-goods container for a refrigeration device includes an open front face and lateral walls that are divergent towards the front face. At least one pair of guide rails for a drawer is mounted on the walls. At least one of the guide rails is mounted on one of the lateral walls by a compensatory element at an acute angle to the lateral wall. 5 The angle is defined such that the rails of the pair run parallel to one another.

GLM/nt